Kékfrankos 2022

Classic selection red

Origin: Pannon region, PDO

Varieties: Kékfrankos

Tasting Notes: Kékfrankos (also known as Blaufränkisch) is the most planted black grape variety in Hungary and is a must try wine of Central Europe. It is thought to have originated in Lower Styria, which is now a part of Slovenia. It has its own personality, a true 'hungaricum'. An extremely versatile wine: it can be consumed young – then it is full of sour cherry and other red fruits –, but it is suitable for barrel ageing as well. Teleki Villányi Kékfrankos follows the lighter, fruitier path though it is matured in large wooden cask for a while, which makes it more full bodied, more complex. On the palate it feels almost velvety, and its aftertaste lingers on for a long time in our mouth. An ideal match with dishes made of duck breast and perfect with typical Hungarian dishes.

Alcohol: 12,5 %

Acidity: 5,1 g/l

Sugar: 1,2 g/l
