Harvest: From September until the end of October 2018.

Vinification + maturation: Varieties were harvested and treated separately. In terms of maturation, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot (separately), were aged in used 5 hl oak barrels and used barrique barrels for nearly 12 months. Kékfrankos and Portugieser were matured in steel tanks. The finished wines were blended and bottled after a long tasting.

Bottled: It was bottled in november 2023. Number of bottles 20.000

Tasting notes: Clean, elegant color is received in the glass. Unusually, it is not the kekfrankos that takes the lead, but the cabernet sauvignon. The style is a little different than usual. It is more elegant, more emphasized, now has a slightly higher tannin content. In addition to the astringent fruits, there are also sweet spices and barrel spices. The rosehip finish is just top of the cake.

Alkohol: 13,28 %

Sav: 5.0 g/l

Food pairing: Due to its diversity, it is excellent with all lighter foods, but I strongly recommend for friendly conversations and romantic evenings.
